P.S. A GURTEN EVENT IS A SUSTAINABLE EVENT!

The Gurten – Park im Grünen actively promotes sustainability practices. That's why the company has been Swisstainable-certified since 2022 and also why the green areas of the Gurten have been recognised by the Nature and Economy Foundation since 2017.

Being responsible towards nature also means being consistent. Take a look at some examples that demonstrate our commitment to sustainability:

IMPORTING BY SEA INSTEAD OF AIR

Importing vegetables by plane causes one to ten times more CO₂ emissions as importing by boat. In order to reduce CO₂ emissions, as of 2020, the Gurten – Park im Grünen no longer uses produce that has been imported by plane.

GRAY WATER

The average Swiss citizen uses about 45 liters of drinking water every day just to flush the toilet. For some of its toilet facilities, the Gurten – Park im Grünen uses collected rainwater, thereby saving a considerable amount of drinking water.

MINIMIZING FOOD WASTE

Thanks to improved purchasing processes, more efficient resource management and adapted services, the Gurten – Park im Grünen was able to reduce food waste this year by 47 % compared to last year. We now offer take-out buffet menu boxes so that guests can take any uneaten food home with them.

NO FOSSIL FUELS

The Gurten – Park im Grünen does not purchase fruit and vegetables grown in greenhouses heated by fossil fuels.

RENEWABLE ENERGY SOURCES

The Gurten – Park im Grünen uses renewable energy sources. The electricity for the entire area is drawn entirely from Swiss hydropower.

HEATING WITH WOOD CHIPS

The Gurten – Park im Grünen heats its buildings by means of wood chips. Burning wood releases the same amount of CO₂ as is removed from the atmosphere by trees as they grow. Wood energy is therefore carbon neutral.
